

Ms. VIVIAN A. THOMAS

Entrepreneur, CEO, Empowerment Advocate

This mother of three embraces her gifts from God, as an educator, community leader, entrepreneur, civic and social empowerment advocate to impact communities for the good of all. Bringing visions to life; mentoring, planting and nourishing seeds of leadership is the divine assignment given to Vivian Thomas.

Vivian Thomas is not the average business owner, with more than two decades of commendable entrepreneurial experience, Vivian is clearly an enterprise expert. It is Vivian's business acumen that created her a stellar reputation in the business industry. She built and owned 3 childcare centers, built three additional centers for clients, own and operated a full served restaurant. Now semi-retired, she works as a business consultant and implements special government contracts. The success of building several multimillion-dollar developments illustrates her mastery in bringing visions to life.

Vivian stated "I will not be boxed in; she believes in community economic. When there are no jobs; create jobs thru entrepreneurship. Community economic empowerment is the choice of buying and selling in your own communities.

Vivian is a native of Hawkinsville, Georgia, and matriculated through the Houston County School System. As a proud graduate of Georgia State University School of Business, Vivian is no stranger to politics and metro Atlanta community needs. It is common for Vivian to present at the state capitol, local boards of education, and local board of commissioners on behalf of her community and other impacted areas. Vivian push for enhanced budgets for quality education and structured growth.

Many describe Vivian as an engaged community leader, who is always at the forefront of serving others. She now serves in Henry County; a rapidly evolving and growing metropolitan. We must embrace smart growth and development, advanced technology, and attract higher paying jobs. "Be the change desired," is what led Vivian to officially announce her candidacy for Commissioner of District Four in Henry County Georgia. Vivian states, "Henry County is where I live, work, enjoy family and friends, therefore, I am committed to serving my community."

To expound upon Vivian's expansive civic and business involvement one must note the following contributions; Member of the One Henry Public Policy and Corporate Solutions Committee, Stockbridge Downtown Development Authority, Commissioner for the Stockbridge Urban Re-Development Authority, Contributor to the Public Policy Committee of the Atlanta Business League, First Vice President of Henry County NAACP, and Chaired the Family Selection Committee of Clayton County Habitat for Humanity. In addition, The Atlanta Business League has twice named Vivian as one of Georgia's One Hundred Women of Influence. To further contribute to a thriving community, Vivian is committed to the care and education of children and training young
